

JOB TITLE: Assistant IT Product Manager, Customer Development, India. LOCATION: UniOps BANGALORE MAIN J goods space. The technology we design, build and deploy here, gives HUL the cutting edge to go to market with best-i Customer Development, one is responsible for business partnering & product ownership of CD (Sales Tech) application platform. The individual will be involved in the entire journey from understanding the right business problems to the fina time. • Define a detailed, and executable rollout strategy for new features, releases, and products. • Write user stories a Operationally manage the on-ground partnership with business leads and CD excellence teams Own the core technolo architecture in partnership with internal & external architects. Ensure Agile & Devops practices are leveraged and adop cost Governance & People: Manage a very large team of internal and external team members; ensure well-being, deve business priorities into product innovations. Proficient in stakeholder management across functions including senior lea understanding of Devops & Agile Understanding of platforms & technologies used in retail ecosystem. Logical thinking